Melissa McVay graduates from Southwest CUNA Management School

Las Cruces, NM – White Sands Federal Credit Union is proud to announce the graduation of Melissa McVay from the Southwest CUNA Management School (SCMS) on July 21.

SCMS is recognized in the credit union movement for innovative, intense, hands-on, professional development. It is a 3-year course study focused on enhancing credit union leadership skills. The school is accredited through the Credit Union National Association (CUNA). It is conducted on the campus of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Texas.

Students compete to enroll in one of only 55 available slots each year, a class size that allows for one of the most challenging and engaging curriculums for credit union professionals. They benefit from a strategic mix of university/college faculty, credit union industry leaders, and recognized professional consultants. The students develop a real-world strategic business plan for their own credit unions. McVay was among this year's 38 graduates from Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas

McVay holds the position of assistant vice-president at White Sands FCU, and she currently manages the collections department. She has been employed at the credit union for 12 years, having begun her tenure as a teller. She also held positions of loan officer and call center manager. McVay holds a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration with a minor in economics from the New Mexico State University.

White Sands FCU congratulates McVay on this lofty achievement.
